

SHaRP

The SHaRP Living-Learning Community (LLC) provides first-year students with a strong foundation for success in pre-health programs of study (pre-medicine, pharmacy, dentistry, animal/veterinarian science, physical therapy, nursing, physician assistance). Pre-health students in the College of Sciences are strongly encouraged to apply (i.e., those students with a major in the Schools of Biological Sciences, Chemistry & Biochemistry, Earth & Atmospheric Sciences, Mathematics, Physics and Psychology).

The program includes:

- Residence in the SHaRP Pre-health LLC in the Caldwell Freshmen Experience residence hall on West Campus.
- Co-enrollment with other participants in a set of pre-health focused core classes (e.g., chemistry, biology, mathematics, English, GT1000).
- Small group meetings with a wide variety of practicing health care professionals as part of the Pre-health Professional Networking Series.
- Behind-the-scenes access to health care centers and research laboratories.
- Attendance at the SHaRP Community Retreat (fall) and Doctors' Dinner (spring).
- Coordination with the Office of Pre-health Advising and the GT Pre-Med and other Pre-Health Student Organizations.
- Fun social and professional development opportunities.
